Program at Skidmore

Plans for the celebration of the Fourth of July in Skidmore are just about completed, according to the Legion committee consisting of Delevan Robbins, Harry Worl and Chas. McDaniels. Several committees have been appointed and are at work.

Prof. H. A. Miller of Maryville will be the speaker of the day.

The fireworks for the magnificent display that night have arrived. The committee reports that they will have a larger display than they had last year.

Burlington Junction and Clearmont will bring their baseball team here and a good game is promised for the afternoon. These two teams played last Sunday and the score was 4-3 in favor of Clearmont.

A pageant, "America — Yesterday and Today" will be presented at evening in Memorial Park, just west of the lumber yard, the same place as last year. This pageant is now under way with a good committee at its head. The time is short and the committee is working on program plans and appointing sub-committees.

The Walker Band of Holt County Consolidated District No. 1 has been secured to furnish the music.

An effort is being made to secure an aeroplane for the day. Two or three men have been written to and a reply is expected in a day or two.

For the evening pageant one hundred or more characters will be in the cast and the Legion appointed a committee consisting of Mrs. Chas. Geyer, Mrs. L. J. Reese and Mrs. W. H. Hoblitzell to assist in arranging the pageant. Mrs. H. V. Stewart will have charge of the folk dances and marches, with Miss Hope Manchester as the accompanist, and Miss Mattie Tarpley has charge of the costuming.

Other attractions will be added within the week and something will be going on so that each one will enjoy themselves.

A brief outline of the pageant, "America—Yesterday and Today," by Nine B. Lamkin, and under the direction of Mrs. Chas. Geyer, Mrs. L. J. Reese and Mrs. W. H. Hoblitzell is as follows:

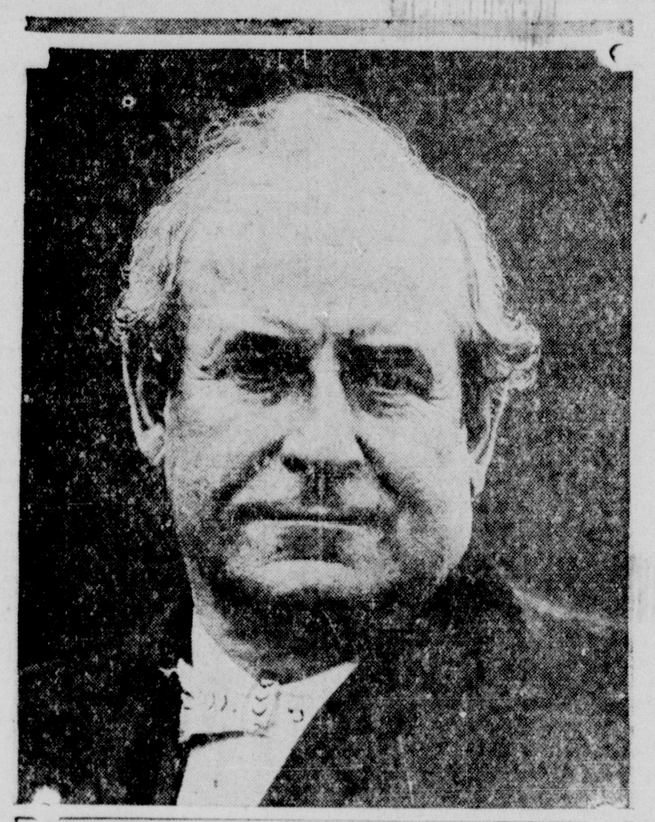
For Him or His Brother?



William Jennings Bryan

The name of Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska, placed in nomination this morning, brought a rousing demonstration at the convention. The name of "Bryan" swept through the convention and brought to mind that historical tumult back in 1896, when the brother of the Nebraska governor swept the convention off its feet by his famous "Cross of Gold" speech.

COMMUNITY LEADER HERE FOR MEETING

WITH OFFICER OF RURAL COMMUNITY CLUBS IN VICINITY.

TO OFFER SUGGESTIONS

Which May Be Taken Up By Different Community Organizations as Basis From Which To Start

"Suggestions which may prove helpful to communities in agriculture, home making, educational, civic and social lines, where communities are large enough to carry on a program of work, is the thought behind the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture which it is carrying on with the rural communities of the state," said B. L. Hummel, Extension Specialist in Community Organization, who is here today to meet with the club leaders of the community clubs in the vicinity at the Farm Bureau rooms this evening.

Mr. Hummel makes his headquarters in Columbia and works in connection with the Extension Service. This service which is now being offered the rural communities of Missouri is a recent one, having been started only last October, when Mr. Hummel took charge, coming directly from the state of Indiana where he was most successful in his line of work with the rural community clubs.

The general plan that the state has and the assistance which it can give to rural communities in the development of rural community organization is the interest and benefit to all the people in the community and the outstanding interest which they have before them to develop. It is not to interest the communities in any special line or phase or any special organization, but is to stimulate the latent interest of the people of each rural community with the most important field of work and from which they may start, as each community has its own special problems to deal with, was the statement Mr. Hummel made.

By necessity of the shrinkage of the rural population in the state the community clubs are forced to include a larger territory and there also must be a large enough organization with which to work and develop a program for community betterment in every way, was Mr. Hummel's opinion. The state furnishes or rather suggests plans from which a beginning made be made, and it is for this purpose that Mr. Hummel is here today to meet the leaders of the many rural community clubs in the vicinity of Maryville.

Mr. Hummel wished to make clear that by this plan the University is not setting up a narrow, selfish way to further and promote its own particular interest, but is to develop a broad organization that community co-operation can be made with all and through which any interest may be enlarged.

The meeting will start at 8 o'clock this evening at the Farm Bureau rooms.

Railroad Union Heads Warn Anti-McAdoo Men

Declare They Will Favor Third Party If Californian Is Defeated In Race For Nomination.

New York, June 27—Claiming the power to prevent the launching of a third party in the national political fight, six leaders of the railroad labor organizations today announced they would be favorable to the third party if William G. McAdoo is defeated for the presidential nomination.

The railroad labor leaders claimed to have enough votes to control the progressive political convention which will meet at Cleveland, July 4 at which it has been predicted Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin would be named as the presidential candidate for that party.

RADIO GIVES A RUNNING STORY

OF DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION RE-CONVENED AT 11:42 A. M.

MINNESOTA 1ST STATE

To Answer Roll Call This Morning —Western States In Demonstration For Gov. Bryan of Neb.

(By Radio)

New York, June 27.—The convention reconvened at 11:42 o'clock this morning, one hour and 12 minutes after the time set at adjournment yesterday afternoon.

The dynamic quality in the air that was experienced yesterday was absent and in its place there seemed to be a general air of quietude, perhaps of tiredness.

The delegates arrived, group by group, beginning shortly after 10:30 o'clock, until finally Chairman Walsh, who had been nervously pacing the platform for some time, deemed it necessary to call them to order.

The session opened with a prayer by the Rev. Dwight W. Wylie, minister of the Central Presbyterian church of New York City.

Minnesota was the first state on the roll as called. In behalf of that state W. J. Crim seconded the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Newton D. Baker of Ohio was next recognized. A tremendous ovation greeted his appearance. In a speech ringing with conviction he placed in nomination the name of James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for president in 1920.

When speaking of the League of Nations Mr. Baker was forced to pause time and again because of the applause which rocked the convention.

In the demonstration which followed Mr. Baker's speech the enthusiasm of the crowd was quite pronounced. The Ohio standard was waved aloft by a beautiful young woman who was held above the heads of the convention on the shoulders of members of the Ohio delegation.

Demonstration for Cox.

After eighteen minutes of spirited effort to rock the rafters the demonstration was quieted and, after Missouri had passed, the Honorable William M. Maloney of Montana was recognized and in a voice transformed into a wheeze by shouting he seconded the nomination of Governor Smith of New York.

Governor Sam B. Stewart of Montana was next recognized and, in behalf of seven-eighths of Montana, he seconded the nomination of William G. McAdoo.

Another demonstration followed the speech of Governor Stewart. This was cut short however by the gavel of Chairman Walsh.

The Honorable George O. Sullivan of Nebraska was next recognized and he placed in nomination the name of Governor Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, brother of William Jennings Bryan.

During this speech Senator Walsh was twice forced to call the delegates to order.

Georgia, Nebraska, Virginia, Michigan and part of New York joined in the demonstration which followed this speech of nomination.

Bryan in Too.

In a parade, which was part of the demonstration, Nebraska, Montana, Oregon, and Georgia took part. Other states were shouting but remained seated. Florida later joined the march.

Failing to find a state song appropriate to the occasion the band played 'There's a Long, Long Trail A' Winding" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Next in order Nevada passed.

When the name New Hampshire was called a great shout arose.

The name of Governor Fred H. Brown of that state was placed in nomination by the Hon. Clyde Keats. Quite a demonstration followed the placing of this name in nomination.

John A. Matthews of New Jersey was next recognized and he named Governor George S. Silzer of that state.

Parade for Silzer.

New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Connecticut joined in the parade for Governor Silzer, Massachusetts, North Dakota and Minnesota waved their standards and

HULL CALLED TO BREAK DEADLOCK

IN RESOLUTION COMMITTEE OVER DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

LEAGUE, KLAN PLANKS

On Which Bitter Fight Centers—Asks That Convention Start Balloting Tonight.

New York, June 27.—Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee, was called into conference late today to help break the deadlock in the resolutions committee over the platform.

Hull came to the committee room where there is a bitter fight over the League and Klan planks and conferred with Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut, chairman, and William Jennings Bryan.

Cummings told Hull the committee could not prepare its report before tomorrow morning and suggested that the convention start balloting for the presidential nominee tonight and that the resolutions committee would break in with the platform at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and interrupt the balloting.

Bryan echoed Cummings' statement.

Hull assured both Cummings and Bryan that he would ask the convention to start balloting tonight. He then left hurriedly again for Madison Square Garden where the resolutions committee is meeting.

In a private conference with Bryan, Cummings also suggested as a means to speed up the committee's activities that the opposing factions on the League and Klan be given an hour apiece to present their views and then allow the committee to press forward with the acutal work of putting the platform into final form for presentation.

V. F. W. to Sell Flags in Residence District

In Keeping With Program To Encourage More General Display of Flag On Patriotic Occasions

Flags and flagpoles similar to those used in the business district will be sold by the local post of the V. F. W., it was decided at a meeting of members of that organization last night.

The flags measure 4x6 and the poles are 12 feet long. There will be no solicitation throughout Maryville but an effort will be made to sell them through advertising.

This movement is in keeping with the program of the military organizations to encourage a flag display on all patriotic occasions. Much favorable comment has been received on the flag display in the business section of Maryville in the last year and it is hoped that the display will be made more general in the residence section.

Cook of Lowell, Mass., Visiting Brother Here

J. F. Cook, a former Nodaway County resident, arrived last night for a visit with his brother Henry Cook. Mr. Cook's home is in Lowell, Mass., where he is a contractor. He has been in the west for about a week visiting his relatives and is now on his way home, expecting to stay here only a couple of days.

He reports that there is a shortage of tenament houses at Lowell, a manufacturing center where there are seven cotton and five woolen mills, besides a few shoe factories, and that his business is good. Mr. Cook said, moreover, that the industries at Lowell are practically at a standstill, there being the worst slump in the mills for thirty years. One of the cotton mills which has been running overtime shutting down until July 4 and the others running only three days a week or just using half a force.

He said that those in the milling industry were expecting a change for the better after the presidential election.

Kansas City Delegate Distributes Carbon Copies of Walker's Letter Condemning Voting for McAdoo.

BULLETIN

The Democratic National Convention adjourned at 5:54 o'clock this afternoon to reconvene at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The reason for the adjournment was to give the Committee on Resolutions time to finish its report.

The following candidates have been placed in nomination for the presidency before the Democratic national convention:

- Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama.
- Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas.
- William G. McAdoo of California.
- Alfred E. Smith of New York.
- Willard Saulsbury of Delaware.
- David F. Houston of New York.
- Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana.
- Jonathan M. Davis of Kansas.
- Albert C. Richie of Maryland.
- Woodridge N. Ferris of Michigan.
- James M. Cox of Ohio.
- Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska.
- Governor Fred Brown, New Hampshire.
- Carter Glass of Virginia.
- George S. Silzer of New Jersey.
- John W. Davis of West Virginia.

Madison Square Garden, June 27.—At 5 o'clock this afternoon the roll call of states for nomination for President, in the convention was nearly finished. West Virginia was called at that hour and placed the name of John W. Davis in nomination.

Practically all of the scheduled names have been placed before the convention amid a great deluge of oratory.

Political observers are busy determining which of the many candidates who have been nominated are best fitted to carry the party's banner, upon the platform which has been laid down by the committee.

In all quarters the leaders declared the platform, excluding the League and Klan planks which have not yet been decided upon, was "the most progressive ever laid down by a resolutions committee.

Here is the way the political observers size up the qualifications of the leading candidates, using the platform as the sole basis for the measurement:

Glass—Too conservative.

Robinson—Too far south.

Smith—Too wet and too much Klan.

Underwood—Too conservative and too wet.

John W. Davis—Too conservative.

McAdoo—Too much Klan.

Ralston—Satisfactory.

Ritchie—Too wet.

Silzer—Too wet.

Cox—Not enough League of Nations in the platform.

Copeland—Too much New York.

Walsh—Too much Klan.

Jonathan M. Davis—Satisfactory.

Of the list, Ralston, who has remained silent on campaign issues and therefore has not laid himself open to attack, seems in the opinion of the impartial observers, the man who most nearly represents the policies in the platform.

Other names which have been placed in nomination but which were not considered of enough importance to feel are: Willard Saulsbury of Delaware, David F. Houston of Texas and New York, Woodbridge Ferris of Massachusetts, Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire, and Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska.

New York, June 27.—The name of Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska, was placed in nomination this afternoon.

While the nominating speech was being made, Joseph B. Shannon of Kansas City, one of the anti-McAdoo leaders in the Missouri delegation, circulated on the floor carbon copies of a letter he received from R. F. Walker, chief justice of the Missouri Supreme Court, protesting against the Missouri delegation casting its votes for McAdoo.

The letter aroused keen indignation among the McAdoo faction in the delegation, but Shannon saw that it was circulated.

Judge Walker wrote that he had made a thorough canvass of Missouri sentiment since the Springfield convention and "the masses of the people do not favor McAdoo's administration."

The letter served to emphasize the radical factional differences which divide the Missouri delegation.

New York, June 27.—While the platform builders continued to wrangle with the League of Nations and Klan planks, the Democratic national convention made slow progress towards getting rid of all the necessary oratory that must precede balloting.

Four more names had been dropped into the hopper by 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. They were: James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio; Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska; Governor Frederick H. Brown of New Hampshire and Governor Silzer of New Jersey, and there seemed more names to come.

Today's session was featured by enthusiastic demonstrations for these favorite sons but there was nothing approaching the McAdoo or Smith demonstrations which preceded them earlier in the convention.

New Jersey did put on a colorful pre-arranged show for Silzer, however, and a thirty-minute demonstration by the delegation amused and entertained the convention.

New York, June 27.—A poll of the outstanding men of the convention today developed merely that the Democratic pulse is still too jumpy to attempt any definite diagnosis.

Although balloting will begin tonight or tomorrow, the convention leaders—publicly at least—are still committed to their original choices or are touting a number of dark horses with no particular choice.

Some of the old Wilsonites are looking in the direction of James M. Cox, who carried the Democratic standard four years ago. Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, placed Cox in nomination shortly after the convention opened at 11:40 o'clock this morning.

Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of Navy, said, "If Baker reaches the same heights today as he did at Baltimore, it may give impetus to the candidacy of Cox."

Baker received a mild demonstration when he came to the platform for his nominating speech and after he had finished a big demonstration was staged for Cox.

"I am instructed for McAdoo and I am for him. He is a real progressive Democrat," the Commoner said.

In Senatorial circles, there is much talk of Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana, Walsh of Montana and Robinson of Arkansas.

Senator Wheeler, eliminating Al Smith entirely, is of the opinion the nominee will have to beat McAdoo, Davis, Ralston and Walsh to win.

Senator Bruce of Maryland saw a chance in yesterday's demonstration for Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

Atlee Pomerene, government counsel, is looking toward Cox.

Senator Swanson of Virginia is an enthusiastic supporter of his colleague, Senator Carter Glass.

George E. Brennan, boss of Illinois, is publicly for Al Smith.

Seymour Choice "Shock" to No One But Nominee

EVEN CELEBRATION HAD BEEN ARRANGED, YET PARTY LEADER KNEW NOTHING OF PLAN TO END DEADLOCK.

New York, June 27.—Fifty-six years ago a great convention in New York thrust a Presidential nomination upon Horatio Seymour, despite his emphatic protestation "Your candidate I cannot be."

It was the first Democratic convention after the war. Twenty-one ballots were cast and then the issue was decided by a coup d'etat.

The Democratic voting element had for this or that reason been divided into various groups. Of the active aspirants for the Presidential nomination George H. Pendleton, "Gentleman George," as he was proudly called by admirers, was easily in the lead. As a pleasing public speaker he stood in high favor. He was not averse to injecting a little demagogy into his campaigning. In order to make himself the exponent of what was called a most righteous cause, he championed the proposition of paying the bonds issued during the rebellion with greenbacks. The doctrine easily found many adherents.

There is little doubt that if the Republicans had not chosen Ulysses S. Grant as their standard bearer for 1868 the Democrats would assuredly have named that brilliant warrior as their nominee. There was a sharp contest between Democrats and Republicans as to which party should have for its leader General Grant, who up to that time had voted for only one candidate for the Presidency—James Buchanan, in 1856.

A formidable element favored the nomination of Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase, originally a Democrat, temporarily a Republican on the slavery question, fundamentally a believer in Jeffersonian Democracy. They seemed to have forgotten that in his teachings of democracy Samuel J. Tilden had placed a ban on any judicial officer seeking nomination to a political office.

The movement to nominate Chase had been skillfully planned. When it became apparent that Pendleton's chances had completely withered, his name was withdrawn. The highest point reached was 156½ votes. General Winfield Scott Hancock and Thomas A. Hendricks had gained steadily until the twenty-first ballot was passed.

General Horatio Seymour was permanent chairman of the convention, which was called in Tammany Hall on Fourteenth street, July 4.

Formally placed in nomination for the Presidency was Pendleton, Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee; General Winfield Scott Hancock, of Pennsylvania; Sanford E. Church, of New York; Asa Packer, of Pennsylvania; Joel Parker, of New Jersey; James E. English of Connecticut, and James R. Doolittle, of Wisconsin.

Though not formally placed in nomination Thomas A. Hendricks received 2½ votes from the very beginning and kept on gaining to the last.

After the twenty-first ballot had been tabulated the impression prevailed among a number of delegates that the following ballot would result in the nomination of either Hancock or Hendricks. But something was going on within two circles of manipulating spirits. One of these circles had in contemplation the nomination of Chief Justice Chase; the other guided by the genius of Samuel J. Tilden, had satisfied itself that this was the psychological moment to spring upon the tired-out ballotters the magic name of Horatio Seymour.

Called away from the chair to confer on some important matters, Seymour's absence was deemed an opportune moment to enact a coup d'etat. An orator of engaging voice gained recognition by the temporary chairman and pointed out Democratic responsibility. His eloquence and logic soon won the hearts of his hearers. In terms both pathetic and persuasive the orator moved that Horatio Seymour be declared the unanimous choice of the convention for President of the United States.

No pen, however gifted its holder, has ever succeeded in describing adequately the scene that followed the offering of this momentous proposition. Forgetting whatever preferences they may have cherished in their hearts, the delegates arose en masse and joined in a booming shout of approval. Long minutes and vigorous appeals for order were required before the deafening uproar could be subdued so as to enable the returned presiding officer to make himself heard.

Deeply affected by what had transpired, General Seymour finally succeeded in getting a hearing. Deprecating what had occurred during his absence, he implored his hearers to reconsider their action and proceed to place in nomination a standard bearer physically capable of engaging in a vigorous campaign. But the convention would not take "no" for an answer. The twenty-second ballot resulted in a unanimous vote (317) for Seymour.

How well and systematically the Seymour episode had been planned may be conjectured from an incident immediately following the Seymour demonstration. Outside Tammany Hall a vast multitude had gathered to learn the latest developments. Banners and transparencies heralding Seymour's nomination were abundantly in evidence and proudly held aloft. Wondering how so much work could be done in so short a time, one of the Indiana delegates, Major Samuel W. Sprott, of DeKalb County, stepped up to one of these banners.

Running his finger over the lettering he exclaimed: "Begad, it's dry!"

STIFFENS M'ADOO MISSOURI SUPPORT

DRIVE FOR SMITH HAS CAUSED MANY TO STICK TO McADOO

CHECK IN DAVIS BOOM

Charles M. Hay Says Some Delegates Now Plan To Stick To McAdoo.

New York, June 27.—A strengthening of the McAdoo lines in the Missouri delegation and a consequent weakening of the John W. Davis support was claimed last night by Charles M. Hay, one of the group of McAdoo leaders in Missouri. He attributed the tightening to the strong drive for support for Gov. Smith encountered by the delegates on every side in New York. Hay said that several delegates who had pledged themselves to vote for McAdoo on a few ballots were now promising to stay as long as their votes could be calculated to do any good for the McAdoo cause or any harm to the Smith candidacy. He refused to give the names of the delegates for publication.

"One Missouri delegate," Hay said "told me today that he would stay for McAdoo for 500 ballots if we wanted him. This man has been outspokenly for Davis, though he has been one of those who has said he would support McAdoo in the early balloting."

Inquiry among the delegates leads to the conclusion that, if McAdoo's strength approximates the claims being made by those within his councils—450 votes on the first ballot, approximately 500 on the second and more than 600 on the third, with a gradually increasing total after that—Missouri can be counted on to continue to cast its full 36 votes for him as long as he continues to gain.

If McAdoo Fails.

Of course, if and when he begins to drop back, the situation will be entirely different. The Missouri delegates yesterday sensed a check in the Davis boom and there was not nearly the amount of Davis talk in the delegation last night that there has been. There is no real sentiment in the delegation, however, for anybody other than McAdoo, Davis and Smith.

If McAdoo fails the effort, it now appears likely, will be made by his organization to throw all of his support possible to Senator Carter Glass of Virginia. If there is any actual Glass strength among the Missouri delegates it has not yet come to the surface. It may be there and probably can be produced at the opportune time to the extent of the actual McAdoo personal following. It is doubtful if this is more than 10 or 12 votes.

About all that can be said with a degree of certainty about the delegation is that there are eight votes those of the district delegates from St. Louis and Kansas City, which can be counted for Smith and that there are 26 votes which can be counted for McAdoo at the beginning, more than sufficient to take the entire delegation to McAdoo under the unit rule.

Possible Combination.

When the break-up comes there is no assurance that a majority of the delegation can be thrown to Glass and that the full delegation vote under the unit rule can be given him. There is still the possibility that a combination of Smith and Davis votes could control the full vote of the State for Davis.

But if Davis fails to develop strength, and there are now indications that he may, it is problematical what will happen. There is no particular reason why the majority of the delegation, carrying with it all the votes under the unit rule, could not go to Senator Ralston, of Indiana, and they might be thrown to Glass, but a discussion along this line cannot be carried beyond the realm of pure speculation. Almost anything might happen, anything except control of the delegation under the unit rule for Smith, who probably could not under any conditions get more than the eight votes now credited to him in the delegation.

Diseases traced to constipation are many —get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

Why does constipation breed other diseases? Because it floods your system with dangerous poisons. And the longer you suffer, the more poisons accumulate. That is why constipation should be relieved at once.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. They know it brings results because it is ALL bran. And only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective in relieving constipation.

ALL bran — Kellogg's — sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts as nature acts. It makes the intestine function naturally and regularly. If eaten regularly, it will bring permanent relief in the most chronic cases of constipation—is guaranteed to do so or your grocer returns your money.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will like the wonderful Kellogg flavor—so crisp and nut-like—so different from ordinary brans, which are most unpalatable.

Eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. And by all means try it in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Battle Creek, is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

Izaak Walton Meeting Is to Be Held Again

Attendance Last Night Is Disappointing—No Permanent Organization Is Effected.

Wallace Gallaher of St. Joseph, a national lecturer of the Izaak Walton League of America and an authority on birds, was here yesterday evening for the purpose of the official organization of the Maryville chapter and talking of the purposes of the Izaak Walton League. So few of the twenty-eight charter members and forty applicants for membership were present that no business was conducted.

Mr. Gallaher in an informal way told of what the League had done in the last two years, how it had accomplished more in its short existence than any society for the preservation of game in the United States had done in any decade.

He said the League is against the destruction of game, forests, fish and the game preserves of the United States and wishes to preserve and to increase all game and fish. The greatest accomplishment of the League the last year was the issue before Congress of setting aside the many thousands of acres along the shores of the Mississippi, natural nesting and hatcheries, and homes of wild animals, the bill which passed Congress being fostered by the League.

Another meeting will be called sometime in the future for the purpose of permanent organization of the Maryville chapter of the Izaak Walton League.

the most of the delegates of these states seemed in favor of the New Jersey candidate. The parade lasted over twenty-five minutes.

During the demonstration the Jersey City Police Quartet sang intermittently.

One young woman got dangerously near the microphone and someone shouted a word of warning, to which the only reply was, "Hurrah for Silzer."

Henry H. Garrett of New Jersey was next recognized and he seconded the preceding nomination.

New Mexico and North Carolina passed in order and the chair then recognized J. F. P. O'Connor of North Dakota, in a speech fiery with indictment of the Ku Klux Klan, seconded the nomination of William G. McAdoo. Chairman Walsh was forced to call the convention to order following the mention of the Klan by the speaker.

More Noise for "Mac."

After Oklahoma had been called and passed and the name of Pennsylvania was announced it was necessary to clear the aisles around the platform before Mrs. Charles Miller of Pennsylvania was introduced. She seconded the nomination of Alfred E. Smith.

At this juncture Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Minnesota, New Jersey, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Iowa and Connecticut rallied to Governor Smith.

Judge Samuel Sherry of Pennsylvania was next recognized and he seconded the nomination of Oscar W. Underwood.

Mrs. Clarence Redshaw of Pennsylvania was next recognized and she seconded the nomination of Governor Alfred C. Ritchie of Maryland.

McAdoo's name was also seconded by two delegates from Pennsylvania.

Rhode Island passed and South Carolina seconded the nomination of McAdoo.

Following this speech a young woman, bearing a large rooster with an equally large comb, came onto the platform and held the bird aloft. This added to the demonstration for McAdoo.

South Dakota passed and Tennessee seconded the nomination of McAdo.

After Texas had passed the chair recognized Samuel E. King of Utah, who seconded the nomination of William G. McAdoo.

Massachusetts seconded the nomination of Governor Fred Brown of New Hampshire.

Senator Claude A. Swanson of Virginia was next recognized and he placed in nomination the name of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia.

Following the speech of nomination a favorable demonstration was given for Mr. Glass, in which some twenty-five states raised their standards. Although not as noisy as some, the demonstration carried significance. Signs bearing such inscriptions as "Glass means success" were shown immediately following the speech. After some fifteen minutes the convention was quieted. This nomination was seconded by two other Virginians who brought forth demonstrations for the "Little Giant of the Virginia Hills."

McAdoo's nomination was seconded by a Mrs. Beaver of the state of Washington.

West Virginia placed the name of John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain in nomination for president. The naming of Davis brought forth a rousing demonstration and indicated that he might possess considerable strength among the central states.

Judge Calhound of Wisconsin was recognized and he seconded the nomination of Governor Smith. Following this speech there was a demonstration participated in by a number of states. Two bare-legged newsboys were placed on the platform and they waved flags during the demonstration.

Sinclair Entries Withdrawn From the Latonia Derby

The withdrawal of Mad Play, Bracadale, and Stanwix, the Sinclair entries in the $25,000 Latonia Derby tomorrow, is a disappointment to thousands of turf fans. The Rancocas stable stars have performed badly in the recent races at the Aqueduct track the first of the week, which is probably the reason for their withdrawal.

Nevertheless, with these three-year-olds out of the race there will be a classy field to start tomorrow. A field of seventeen will run in the renewal of the Latonia Derby. Among the prominent entries are:

Black Gold, Chilhowee, the horses that finished first and second in the Kentucky Derby. Also Beau Butler, Baffling, Revenue Agent, Altawood, Mr. Mutt, Klondyke, Thorndale, who also ran in the Kentucky Derby. Some of the others that will start are Modest, Baffling, Sunspero, Lord Martin, Bourbon Boy, King Gorin II, Polo Ground, Dazzler and Giblon.

Democratic Presidential Possibilities

DAVID F. HOUSTON.

David F. Houston has been termed by his friends "the quietest man who ever lived."

In addition he displayed a genius for leadership from the day he first started to work his way through the University of South Carolina. He also is cautious.

For instance, when Dr. Houston was Secretary of Agriculture in President Wilson's Cabinet, this question was put to him: "What is wrong with the existing machinery of production and distribution in relation to the food productive resources of the country?"

"Really, we know little about it," Houston replied. "We have some knowledge of combined effort to standardize crops and to effect economies in getting them into the hands of the consumer."

He pointed to the benefits resulting from the standardization of citrus crops in Florida and California, and the economic advantage accruing from the combined efforts of the growers in marketing.

"But this knowledge, in relation to the whole national situation, is small," he said.

Can Keep a Tight Lip.

Dr. Houston's reputation for being extremely reserved came to national notice when he preserved absolutely from his most intimate friends who accompanied him from St. Louis to Washington to witness President Wilson's inauguration the secret he was coming to accept the Agricultural portfolio in the Cabinet. They were thoroughly surprised when they read of his appointment in the newspapers next day.

But, when he does talk, he talks easily, thoughtfully and well. However, his friends say, "he has to want to talk first."

He presents an atmosphere of one strong mentally and physically. His air of dominant force is intensified by coal-black eyes. Associates in Washington called him "a dreamer—but a practical dreamer."

Although his activities had extended over a considerable portion of the country, he was practically unknown to the nation at large when he was appointed Secretary of Agriculture.

Dr. Houston, when appointed to the Cabinet post, had been a professor of ancient languages and of political economy, a profound student of history, a writer who had delved into all of the sciences. His recreation and avocation had been arts and letters.

Headed Three Colleges.

And he had been chief executive of three great institutions of learning.

He was born at Monroe, N. C., February 17, 1866, and was the youngest member of Wilson's Cabinet.

In 1887 he took his A. B. degree at South Carolina College, and while a graduate student there he tutored in ancient languages.

He was superintendent of the city schools at Spartanburg, S. C., from 1888 to 1901, then went to Harvard University, where he remained as a graduate student in political economy until 1894. He took his A. M. there in 1892.

In 1894 the University of Texas summoned him to teach political economy. He remained with the institution until 1902 and served the last three years as dean of the faculty.

From 1902 to 1905 he was president of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. He left to return as president for three years of the University of Texas. He was chosen Chancellor of the Washington University at St. Louis in 1908, which post he was filling when he was appointed to the Cabinet.

Has Gone Into Business.

He is a member of the Southern Education Board and Rockefeller Sanitary Commission; trustee of the John F. Slater Fund; a fellow of the Texas State Historical Society, and a member of the American Economic Association.

He was president of the Harvard Graduates' Club in 1893 and 1894.

He is the author of "A Critical Study of Nullification in South Carolina."

Tulane University, Louisiana, conferred the honorary degree of L. L. D. upon him in 1903, and three years later the University of Wisconsin extended like honor to him.

He married Helen Beall, of Austin Texas, December 11, 1895, and they have several children.

He served as Secretary of the Treasury in 1920-21, and was chairman of the Federal Reserve and Farm Loan Boards during the same years. He has been president of the Bell Telephone Securities Company since September, 1921, and was a member of the National Defense from 1916 to 1920. He lives in New York City.

Miss Henrietta Schrick of Potter, Kan., left this morning for her home after a week's visit with Miss Pearl Booth.

$3,500 for Priest's Death at Milan

Kirksville, Mo., June 27—A jury in the circuit court here Wednesday returned a verdict for the death of the Rev. J. J. Jermain, Catholic priest, electrocized July 9, 1922, at Milan, Mo., his home. The plaintiff was Rose Jermain, a sister, and the defendant was the city of Milan.

Father Jermain met his death while walking home from the depot in Milan, after making a sick call at a nearby town. An electric wire, across his path, caused almost instant death.

The case was brought to Kirksville on a change of venue.

The Truth About BATTERIES

A battery is a black wooden box with a handle on each end.

It contains plates and separators and other things.

Its purpose is to start and light your car, fire the gas, and sound your horn whenever you call upon it to do so.

If it does these things efficiently over a reasonable period of time, it is a good battery. If it does it over a longer time, it's a better battery.

If it does its work not only well and long but without laying off for repairs, it's an economical battery.

Now that the price of an Exide is low, it is a very economical battery.

Road Initiative Petitions Filed

Fourth District Had More Than Their Quota of Signers.

Matthew F. Morse, General Manager of the Automobile Club of Missouri, a few days ago filed with Charles U. Becker, Secretary of State, road initiative petitions bearing more than 60,000 signatures of voters of the state.

The petitions provide for an initiative law to be placed upon the ballot in November which will hasten the completion of the 7,600 mile state highway system by increasing the annual issue of state road bonds to $15,000,000 a year.

Under the present law petitions for initiative measures must bear the signatures of more than 50,000 voters. The number of signatures obtained by the Automobile Club of Missouri, which issued and supervised the circulation of the petitions, were approximately 61,000. More than the required number of signatures was obtained in all sixteen of the congressional districts, the first time in the history of the state, it is said, that each district has exceeded its quota. It is believed that when all the petitions have been returned to the Automobile Club, that the total of signatures obtained will be in excess of 100,000.

The number of signers required and those obtained in state's congressional districts follow:

Congressional District	Signatures Required	Signatures Secured

RUBY PLAYED IN LINCOLN'S OFFICE

One of the most cherished incidents of a life time, still held tender in the memory of Henry Clay Ruby, 1505 Moffett Ave., Joplin, Mo., is, when as a boy he used to play in the law offices of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield.

"I knew him just as well as my daddy," said Mr. Ruby, "the only difference was my daddy often gave me a licking and Abe didn't.' Mr. Ruby also told of his interesting school days with Lincoln's son, Tod.

As a result, no doubt, of his very strenuous life, Mr. Ruby's health began to go back on him about fifteen years ago.

"I finally got to where I couldn't even eat crackers and milk," said Mr. Ruby, "without suffering such agony. My kidneys bothered me a lot, too, and I was so nervous I had to use both hands to drink my coffee. For the past three years I was confined to my bed most of the time and it looked like I was going to spend the rest of my days there.

"Then, the new discovery, Karnak, came to town. I have just finished my second bottle and at the rate I am improving I will soon feel like my old campaign days again. Karnak is the greatest medicine ever put in a bottle."

Many elderly people, like Mr. Ruby, have testified to having found renewed strength in the famous new medicine.

Karnak is sold in Maryville exclusively by Maryville Drug Co.—Adv.

Splendid reports have been received concerning the Acme Chautauqua System which will put on their programs here July 17 to 20.

The talent sent out by this system is above the average and the programs promised us will merit the patronage of the entire community.

The culvert on the state highway just north of the Burlington station which has been reconstructed recently was opened for travel the first of the week.

The coal sheds belonging to the Pickering Lumber Co., have been torn down and will be replaced by larger and more substantial buildings.

The concrete foundations for the new sheds is partially in and the buildings will soon be under construction.

The frequent rains during the past week have been a great disappointment to the farmers as the corn crop is greatly in need of cultivation.

Many fields are becoming sodded with grass and weeds and will be difficult to clean even under favorable conditions.

The wheat was lodged badly by the wind Tuesday morning but most of it has straightened up and with average weather conditions will fill well. Oats are standing up well and promise a good crop.

METHODIST CHURCH

The W. F. M. S., will meet with Mrs. Orlen Kelley, Thursday, July 3.

We were sorry to be stormed out at Myrtle Tree Sunday evening, after a fine attendance at Pickering Sunday morning.

Our ladies will ship a couple of barrels canned fruit to the new hospital at St. Joseph during the season. Empty jars may be gotten at either the Pickering or Myrtle Tree church.

The postponed Children's Day service will be given at Myrtle Tree Sunday morning. A part of the program will be given by the children and the pastor will give a short sermon especially adapted to them. There will also be the regular preaching at Pickering at 8 p. m.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Last Sunday was a good day so far as the morning service was concerned. 127 in Sunday School made it look almost normal; however, there is still plenty of room for more. A new class for the young married folks was organized with Jno. Mann as teacher. It is starting out with a good bunch. There is a place for all in the Sunday School.

As announced, the women had charge of the church service and gave some very fine talks on different phases of the Women's Missionary Work. Fifty years ago next October the Christian Women's Board of Missions was organized. This year they are celebrating the Golden Jubilee by raising a million dollars to extend the work of the organization. Our apportionment of this amount is $150.00. An offering was taken last Sunday without previous announcement and about $15 was contributed to apply on the total. This, with some twelve dollars on hand will make a nice start. Plans are being made to raise the balance and we believe Pickering will not fail in this worthy work.

There was no service last Sunday night on account of the storm, so the sermon announced for then will be given next Sunday night. The morning sermon will be "Salvation by Works."

SILZER IS TERMED MAN OF BIG DEEDS

NEW JERSEY GOVERNOR PLACED IN NOMINATION.

IS A FEARLESS LEADER

Has Never Known Defeat At Hands Of People, Matthews Declares in Nominating Speech.

Madison Square Garden, New York City, June 27.—Stressing the fact that New Jersey has produced two presidential candidates who have led the Democratic party to victory, John A. Matthews placed the name of Gov. George S. Silzer of New Jersey, in nomination for the presidency before the national convention here today.

New Jersey feels that her governor in addition to traits of availability has a providential urge, in that he comes with the mantle of victories of Cleveland and Wilson, New Jersey sons, upon his worthy shoulders, Matthews declared.

Matthews' speech in part follows:

"Twelve years ago this week, the Democratic party, nominated Gov. Wilson of New Jersey for the office of president of the United States. It is of another such Democrat that I am privileged to speak to you today; the fruitage of the same political soil, an exemplar of the same Democratic standards, a patriot of the truest type.

"Leadership is our primal need—leadership that shall be practical, progressive and statesmanlike, leadership that shall be honest and unafraid. Let me tell you of such a leader. He has crowded into one year of service as chief executive of our state, constructive accomplishments that look to the very essence of governmental well being.

"Would to God, Mr. Chairman, we had such vigorous, such intrepid leadership as Washington when the thieves of our national resources were discovered in the very household of government. Mr. Chairman, the governor of New Jersey is a God-fearing man. There is but one code of moral law in his private life.

"He is, in the truest sense of the word, a progressive and a progressive is one who applies the principles of successful business to the business of the government. He does not fear big business providing it is honest, but he is the implacable foe of business big or little which doesn't square with the commandment or God which is the very essence of business conscience—Thou shall not steal.

"He has served in three branches of the government, the executive, the judicial and legislative. He has never known defeat at the hands of the people.

"On behalf of the sovereign state of New Jersey, I offer Gov. George S. Silzer, of New Jersey."

CARDINAL HAYES ARRIVES FOR OPENING PRAYER.

SAYS GLASS WOULD HARMONIZE GROUPS

PRESENTED AS "LEADER IN EMERGENCY."

COURAGEOUS AND HONEST

Name Of Virginian Is Presented To Democratic National Convention By Senatorial Colleague.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 27.—Carter Glass of Virginia was presented today to the strife-torn Democratic national convention as the "harmony candidate" by Senator Swanson, his senatorial colleague who nominated him for the presidency. Senator Swanson pictured the favorite son of the Old Dominion as a "leader in the present emergency," a man "who feels that public honor is private honor, too honest to be corrupted by the rich and too brave to be coerced by demagogues."

Senator Swanson's speech in part follows:

"May we, in the selection of our candidate forget all factional, party and personal differences and obliterate forever all questions of sectional preferences.

"The man needed in the present emergency is apparent. With the lowering of governmental standards, with many looking to the government only as a means of self enrichment with unbridled corruption in high places, we need a man who feels that public honor is private honor and public disgrace is private disgrace, that public failure is private failure, and that public success is private success. We need today a man too honest to be corrupted by the rich and too brave to be coerced by demagogues, who will keep the temple of our government free alike from the greedy money changers and the plundering rabble.

"Recognizing fully the imperative demands of the hour, completely conscious of the friends that should attach to the nomination and election of the man to be the next president of the United States, I present to you as measuring up to all these needs, Carter Glass of the Old Dominion.

"He has many important positions of honor and responsibility, both in his state and in the nation. He served almost twenty years in the house of representatives and was reguarded as one of its ablest and most distinguished members. To him the country is indebted for the federal reserve act.

"Senator Glass was also chairman of the joint committee of congress which framed and secured the passage of the federal farm loan act which brought relief to agriculture. Thousands of farmers have enjoyed its manifold benefits.

"Immediately following the world war while financial conditions were still most complex and uncertain, Mr. Glass was called by President Wilson to the secretaryship of the treasury and this office he filled with conspicuous ability. His record in the treasury is beyond criticism or assault.

"He resigned the position of the treasury secretaryship to accept an appointment as United States senator and he has since served in this body each succeeding year with increased usefulness and reputation. His work in all the positions he has held has added to his fame.

"In this long career of public responsibility and high office no stain has ever followed his footsteps, no scandal, either public or private has besmirched his name.

"Virginia presents to you a tried, experienced man who under many and varied circumstances has proven his worth. She offers you his intelligence, his patriotism, his capacity, his courage and his democracy for the service of the nation."
